Special to the Bonanza.
MANHATTAN, Nev., Jan. 10.—Theodore Zunnini, owner of a placer mine in Central, three miles below Manhattan, was instantly killed at 9:30 o'clock this morning by a bucket of gravel falling on him. The gravel was being hoisted when the band broke at the collar of the shaft and let it fall. The bucket struck Zunnini on the small of the back, shattering the backbone.

EXTENSION SHOP IS DAMAGED BY BLAZE

A fire, caused by the blowing of live coals from the forge by the high wind last night, caused $2,000 damage to the building housing the blacksmith shop of the Tonopah Extension mine at 10:45 o'clock last night. It is believed that the coals came in contact with some coal oil. About one-third of the structure was destroyed; the machine shop, separated by only a thin partition was not injured beyond being flooded.

Two of the Extension fire hoses, manned by the fire department, was playing on the fire within a few minutes after the sounding of the alarm. Later a city line was connected up and another Extension line was also used.

The alarm was turned in by Mrs. Roy Davenport, who lives in one of the company houses nearby. She explained that she had watched the blaze for some minutes, thinking that someone else had turned in the alarm.

The jury was given its liberty until that time.

COLD SNAP FREEZES PIPES; 6 ABOVE ZERO

Weather Forecaster Asher reported that at 5 o'clock this morning the thermometer dropped to six degrees above zero. A number of water pipes were frozen and some of them burst. So as not to again be taken by surprise by a cold snap forecast, wives are resolving to use the shut-off drains hereafter. This afternoon the Bonanza's type setting machine was forced to halt because of lack of gas, the gas office reporting that the cold had blocked the pipes. Asher said today that the barometer is rising again, indicating that the storm has gone, so that chance for snow in the immediate future is slight.

PERSONAL

ED BEVIS, the Goldfield mining man, is spending a couple of days in Tonopah.

GEORGE W. MERRICK, father of Mrs. Harlan Bailey, and Miss Anna Merrick, her sister, arrived on this morning's train from Minnesota for a visit of several weeks.

HENRY NOFSINGER, who has been visiting relatives in Winnemucca for the past three weeks, returned to Tonopah this morning and expects to leave for his home town, Manhattan, tomorrow.

HARRY DUNSEATH, justice of the peace, returned by auto from Carson last evening. He went there to take the examinations to practice law in the supreme court of Nevada. He passed the examinations easily.

ANTONIO COLAPITRO, who went to Denver a month ago, returned to Tonopah this morning. On his way he stopped over at Carson and there was the guest of Lieutenant Governor Sullivan. Mr. Colapitro says that in a conversation with Provost Marshal Sullivan the latter stated none of the Nye county registrants would be called in the next draft.

GERMANS REFORMING THEIR GOVERNMENT

President Wilson's suggestion that the form of the German government be changed met with sharp rejection from the very people in Germany who had been in favor of adopting parliamentary responsibility, and yet, says a writer in the New York Evening Post Annual Financial Review, whether through the president's urging or in spite of it, the Germans have at least begun to reform their political system.

The liberal press of the empire treats the formation of the Hertling cabinet in November as a political revolution. The conservative press laments the too easy acquiescence of the kaiser in the curtailment of the prerogatives of the crown.

Germany, however, the Evening Post writer continues, is preparing in every way possible for continuing the war. Regulation of the food supply has grown more stringent. Pangs of hunger and cold will probably be felt more keenly than ever before. Two loans for financing the war were raised this year, one in March and April; the other in September and October. A total of $6,300,000,000 was yielded.

Germany's war loans now amount to $18,000,000,000. The actual war expenses have been greater—about $20,250,000,000, or more than one-fourth of Germany's wealth prior to the war. The interest on that debt is about one billion dollars a year. Count Roedern said recently that the new war taxes had yielded more than the $1,250,000,000 assumed in the budget for the year. But the tax on wealth due to the war—estimated to yield from $250,000,000 to $400,000,000—will not be collected twice, so revenue must be secured from other sources, or the interest must be paid out of new borrowings.

Whether Germany can continue raising these huge sums no one can say. President Havenstein of the Reichsbank said in September that the Germans could bear the $1,750,000,000 annual interest on the public debt, if it should reach that sum.

FOUR JOCKEYS HURT.

(By Associated Press.)
NEW ORLEANS, La., Jan. 10.—Four jockeys were injured, none seriously, and two horses killed in accidents during yesterday's running races at the fair grounds track here. Jockey Arthur Johnson, an apprentice, who came here from the Pacific coast tracks, received bruises when Peppes, his mount in the second race, fell at the half-mile post and was killed. Most of the eleven other horses in the race ran over Johnson.

In the seventh race Jockeys J. Cruise, J. Williams and W. Kelsay received painful bruises when their mounts fell in a tangle at the six-furlongs post. Chicks, Williams' mount, being killed. Cruise, Williams and Kelsay will be able to ride this afternoon. It was announced, but Johnson may be out of the saddle for several days.

AMUSEMENTS

HAROLD LOCKWOOD TODAY.

Probably the most unusual photograph of the season is the Metro production, "The Haunted Pajamas," with Harold Lockwood as the star, which will be seen at the Butler this evening. Adapted from the well known novel by Francis Perry Elliott, this production partakes of the nature of a farce, an extravaganza, and a powerful dramatic story. Nothing like it has hitherto been seen on the screen. Further attractiveness is added by the clever work of the favorite star, Harold Lockwood, and of his charming leading woman, Carmel Myers. Characters change about in "The Haunted Pajamas" like figures in a kaleidoscope. The star changes before your eyes into a Chinaman; in the same way a blonde young man changes into a beautiful girl with dark hair and eyes. "Presto, change!" is the order of the day, and it is all the fault of those bewitched pajamas, made from silk from the looms of an ancient Chinese empress. Anyone who puts them on becomes instantly transformed into someone else, and the complications are amazing. It is simply a knockout, and anyone who does not like it after seeing it can have—well, our "wrist watch." In addition to the feature, Hearst-Pathe News will be shown.

Tomorrow, Sonia Markova, the new Russian star, in "The Painted Madonna," also "The Fighting Trail."

FRENCH HAIL WILSON'S

advanced social democrats refuse reparation for the inequity which the Frankfort treaty consecrated. La Liberté contrasts the generosity of President Wilson's attitude toward Russia with "the perfidious maneuvers of the central powers at Brest-Litovsk," and adds:

"President Wilson was right in ending with a declaration of America's determination to fight until these objects are attained, as arms alone, not speeches, will convince Germany of the justice of our cause." "President Wilson's words will make his name popular to the remotest villages of France," the paper says, in returning to the president's statement on Alsace-Lorraine. "The enthusiastic welcome they met with in the American congress enhanced their value still further. At the beginning of the new year, which undoubtedly will be the decisive year, we record with joy this evidence of solidarity which is given to our country and this pledge of victory which is given to the cause of right."

FIRE DEPARTMENT OF

three squads to remain on duty in shifts of eight hours each.

The trouble started at noon, when Fire Commissioner W. L. Winfrey suspended twenty-one firemen at Fair Park station because of their refusal to resign from the newly organized firemen's union. At 4 o'clock Miss Myrtle Berry, said to be an official organizer of the garment workers' union, appeared at the city hall and presented an ultimatum from the union firemen, stating a strike would be called at 6 o'clock unless the Fair Park firemen were re-instated by that hour and unless a wage increase to $5 a day minimum was granted the men. The city commission, which denies the right of men to organize, refused the demands and began preparations to protect the city.

Local fire insurance men had a hurried meeting late in the day and later a statement that there would be no insurance canceled as a result of the strike if local insurance men could prevent it was issued. This question, it was stated, however, must be passed upon by the insurance companies themselves and not by local agents.
